

Society of Consulting Psychology 2005 Call for Award Nominations

The Society of Consulting Psychology annually offers (or participates in) the following awards:

RHR International Award for Excellence in Consultation. This award is given to an individual with a distinguished career in the practice of consulting psychology, and it is funded by the consulting firm of RHR International. It honors a founding member, Perry L. Rohrer, who epitomized the standards of excellence that RHR and the Society seek to perpetuate. The award is accompanied by a $1500 check.

Please submit: (1) a letter of nomination from a primary sponsor outlining the qualification of the individual for this award; (2) letters of recommendation from colleagues, clients, etc.; (3) a current resume or vita for the nominee; and (4) evidence of the significance/impact of the nominee's work.

RHR International Outstanding Doctoral Dissertation Award. This award, given to a doctoral student or recent graduate for exemplary research contributing to theory or practice of consulting psychology, is funded by RHR International. The winner receives a $1000 check and travel funds to present the award winning research at the APA annual meeting.

Nominations should include: (1) a copy of the defended dissertation (2002-2005); (2) a letter of nomination explaining why it is an exemplary study and clearly links it to the domain of consulting psychology; and (3) two letters of recommendations from the student's faculty or members of the Society of Consulting Psychology.

Society of Consulting Psychology Service Award. This award is given to a member of the Society of Consulting Psychology who has made a sustained and significant contribution to the society. Nominations need to include: (1) a nomination letter detailing the service contributions of the nominee and (2) two letters of support from society members.

RHR and SCP Awards Deadline: Materials for these awards must be submitted by May 1, 2005.

Contact Information: Nominators for each of these awards is asked to compile a nomination packet that includes the required materials and to forward two copies of the nomination materials to:

Rodney L. Lowman, Office of the Provost, Alliant International University, 10455 Pomerado Rd., San Diego, CA 92131-1799. For more information, please contact Rodney L. Lowman at 858/635-4535 or rlowman@alliant.edu.

Harry and Miriam Levinson Award for Exceptional Contributions to Consulting Organizational Psychology. The Levinson award is a $5,000 prize given annually to an APA member who has demonstrated an exceptional ability to turn psychological theory and concepts into applications that leaders and managers can use to create more effective, healthy, and humane organizations.

The award is administered by APA's Office of Division Services, in conjunction with Divisions 13, 14, and 39. Representatives from each Division review nominations and recommend a recipient to the American Psychological Foundation Board of Trustees. Nomination materials must include a letter that addresses the nominee's accomplishments and his or her curriculum vitae. Self-nominations are welcome, and APF encourages nominations that represent diversity of race, ethnicity, gender, age, and sexual orientation. The web address for more information and for application materials, is:

<http://www.apa.org/monitor/nov04/levinson.html>. The nomination deadline for this award is March 15, 2005.