

APA Division 18 Police & Public Safety Section

August 5, 2009 Mini Conference Overview

We are excited about the 2009 Mini-Conference and hope that you will join us to hear the latest information from experts in the field and for stimulating conversation with your colleagues and students. In addition you will be able to earn 7 ces*. Our Objectives are to insure that participants:

- Learn how psychologists play an important role in national security efforts to help the public build resiliency and cope with threats such as major disasters and terrorism
- Learn how to develop a residential treatment program for treating first responders with PTSD
- Learn how virtual reality technology can be used to treat PTSD
- Can describe the most important legal issues involved in practicing public safety psychology
- Can use the MMPI-2-RF (Restructured Form) in Assessing Police and Public Safety Candidates
- Are able to identify current issues and dilemmas involved in the assessment for police and firefighter positions

We will be providing continental breakfast and lunch. There will be a social gathering at the end of the day for all registered participants and a guest.

Finally we hope that you will join us for our Police and Public Safety Section Business Meeting to be held the following Thursday morning, August 6, 2009 at 10:00 am in the Division 18 Hospitality Suite at the Intercontinental Toronto Centre Hotel.

Again, the conference will be held at Toronto Police Headquarters at 40 College Street, Toronto, Ontario, Canada M5G 2J3.

See you in Toronto,

Lorraine W. Greene, Ph.D.
Chair
Division 18, Police and Public Safety Section
