Launching your Career on Solid Footing: Incorporating Race & Culture in Supervision (CE)—Shamin Ladhani, PsyD, et al.

Friday, August 15, 2008

10:00 a.m. - 11:50 a.m.

Boston Convention & Exhibition Center, Meeting Room 254A

It is critical in today's diverse workplace that early career psychologists obtain the skill sets to effectively deal with race and culture in the supervision setting. This session will help participants develop strategies for promoting and integrating race and culture in supervision, and speakers will give tips on dealing with resistance in supervision when discussing race and culture.

Launching Your Career on Solid Footing: Maintaining Self-Care Across the Life Continuum—Darryl Salvador, PsyD, et al.

Friday, August 15, 2008

12 p.m. - 1:50 p.m.

Boston Convention & Exhibition Center, Meeting Room 254A

The integration of professional and personal life can be a daunting task, and this is especially true if you are a parent. This symposium will provide information from seasoned and early career psychologists concerning their process of making family life and professional life work for them.

Tools for Growth: Launching and Building a Successful Practice (co-sponsored with the Committee for the Advancement of Professional Practice)—Gary Hawley, PsyD, et al.

Launching Your Career on Solid Financial Footing: Financial Planning 101 for Early Career Psychologists: Parts 1 & 2—Gary Hawley, PsyD, et al.

Saturday, August 16, 2008

2:00 p.m. - 4:50 p.m.

Boston Convention & Exhibition Center, Meeting Room 210A

Early career psychologists face many financial challenges as they begin to build personal wealth and establish rewarding careers. Speakers will help participants develop a business plan to reduce debt, save, and invest money; assess professional value, skill sets, and practice interests; negotiate salary, benefits, and start-up costs; and avoid contractual pitfalls with new employers or in other business arrangements.

Launching Your Career on Solid Footing: How to Lead and Succeed. Leadership Development for the Early Career Psychologists Network (ECPN)—Josephine Minardo, PsyD, et al.

Saturday, August 16, 2008

4 p.m. - 4:50 p.m.

Boston Convention & Exhibition Center, Meeting Room 252A

This session is open to all but is tailored for members of the Early Career Psychologists Network (ECPN). Find out how to get involved in an APA Division or your State, Territorial, or Provincial Psychological Association (SPTA) and become a leader among your peers.
