

Response to Katrina:

Potential opportunities for psychology faculty, students, and interns:

The following contains information about potential opportunities for psychology faculty, students, and interns. The listing contains: a) the name of the institution or organization, b) a contact person who is coordinating assistance, and c) a general statement about the type of assistance offered.

Alliant International University (San Diego, San Francisco Bay, Los Angeles, Fresno, Sacramento, Irvine)

<http://www.alliant.edu>

Susan Topham, Systemwide Director of Admissions, at stopham@alliant.edu or 858-635-4885

Alliant's schools are able to accommodate some doctoral and master's students from the Gulf Coast who would like to enroll in graduate courses in clinical psychology, organizational psychology, forensic psychology, school psychology, educational psychology and marital and family therapy. Spaces will vary by program and location.

Alliant/CSPP/USIU alumni in the affected areas who are seeking temporary housing may be able to be housed in Alliant's available dorm space (limited configurations). Contact Mike Pittenger, Associate Vice President for Student Life, at mpittenger@alliant.edu or 858-635-4475 for information on housing availability.

Arizona State University

Richard Kinnier, Ph.D. at Kinnier@asu.edu.

Accepting displaced students, including students for graduate-level counseling and psychology classes.

Ball State University (Muncie, Indiana)

<http://www.bsu.edu/counselingpsych>

Larry Gerstein, Ph.D. at rangzen@aol.com

The Counseling Psychology department at Ball State University (Muncie, Indiana) is available to take graduate students from the Gulf Coast who would like to enroll in doctoral courses in counseling psychology, and graduate students needing masters degree courses in community counseling, mental health counseling, school counseling, rehabilitation counseling, and social psychology.

Brown University

<http://bms.brown.edu/DPHB>

Anthony Spirito, Ph.D. at Anthony_Spirito@Brown.edu

Brown University Clinical Psychology Program is looking into the feasibility of establishing placements for 1-2 predoctoral interns and/or postdoctoral fellows whose training has been disrupted by hurricane Katrina. Please visit the website or contact Anthony Spirito for more information.

Casa Pacifica

Sean Schoneman, Ph.D. at SSchoneman@casapacifica.org

Accepting two post docs and at least one clinician. The agency works with children and adolescents providing crisis shelter, 24-hour residential care and a non-public day school for children with serious emotional disorders.

Chicago School of Professional Psychology

Michael Horowitz, Ph.D. at mhorowitz@csopp.edu

Faculty and students who are in professional psychology programs in the affected states and wish to resume studies or teaching in the Chicago area can contact President Michael Horowitz directly. He will assist them either directly at his school or through Chicago area colleague institutions. You can view The Chicago School's graduate psychology programs at <http://www.csopp.edu>.

Cornell University, Graduate Field of Psychology, Department of Psychology

Barbara L. Finlay, Ph.D. at blf2@cornell.edu

Ready to look into any sort of assistance, including: visiting appointments for faculty, office and lab space, possible teaching slots for graduate students. Visiting student appointments with tuition waivers, office and lab space, one or two semester stipends. Internships not available.

DRI Consulting

John P. Fennig, Ph.D. at johnfennig@dric.com

Able to take one pre-doctoral intern for this school year for our organization and management consulting firm. Stipend would need to be negotiated. Not APA accredited. Information at <http://www.dric.com/company/trainingatdric.htm>.

Family Institute of Pinole

Bart Rubin, Ph.D. at BRubin525@aol.com or 510-741-7286

One intern position for anyone displaced by the hurricane. A family and child treatment center five minutes outside Berkeley, California. Not APA accredited. CAPIC member.

Gettysburg College, Department of Psychology

Janet Morgan Riggs, Ph.D. at riggs@gettysburg.edu

Accepting academically qualified displaced students as guest students for fall semester. Possible opportunities for displaced faculty to work on campus, with access to office space, library, and the internet.

Glendale Adventist Medical Center- Los Angeles

Jim Pathman Ph.D. at Jslcpath@cs.com

Has a position for an intern in the training program at Glendale Adventist Medical Center in Los Angeles. Not APA accredited. CAPIC member.

James Madison University

<http://www.psyc.jmu.edu/gradpsyc/>

Sheena Rogers, Ph.D. at rogerssj@jmu.edu or 540-568-7838

The Department of Graduate Psychology at James Madison University is willing to consider applications from displaced students for temporary enrollment in classes offered by our MA, MEd, EdS, PsyD and PhD graduate programs. For more information see the website. James Madison University is also coordinating undergraduate admissions through the admissions office.

JFK University

Sukie Magraw, Ph.D at smagraw@jfk.edu

Will take a doctoral psychology student, tuition-free, into the program.

Lehigh University

Barbara Malt, Ph.D. at barbara.malt@lehigh.edu

The Psychology Department will do what it can to provide resources for a faculty member or graduate student who may want to spend a semester or a year elsewhere. The university is offering to admit undergrad Tulane students who have family nearby.

Louisiana State University, Psychology Department

Gary E. Jones, Ph.D. at gjones@lsus.edu

Opportunities for faculty affected by Katrina to work on campus, with access to office space, libraries, research facilities, and the Internet.

Opportunities for students affected by Katrina to enroll in graduate courses, use libraries and research facilities, and participate in internship opportunities.

Mental Health & Deafness Resources (located in Northbrook, IL)

Judy Kahn, Ph.D. at (847) 212-0672

Will provide an opportunity to a therapy practicum student who, due to this catastrophe, has lost their Gulf Coast practicum site.

Middle Tennessee State University

James Rust, Ph.D. at jorust@mtsu.edu

Middle Tennessee State University - School Psychology EDS Program is offering assistance.

New Mexico State University

Eve Adams, Ph.D. at eadams@nmsu.edu or (505) 646-1142

Graduate programs in Counseling Psychology, Counseling and School Psychology.

North Carolina State University

Jeffery P. Braden, Ph.D. at Jeff_Braden@ncsu.edu

Has opened its on-line courses to students displaced by Hurricane Katrina. Information about psychology courses, and general information, may be obtained from the following links:

General info: <http://www.ncsu.edu/registrar/hurricane/>

On-Line Psychology Classes (grad & undergrad)

<http://distance.ncsu.edu/katrina/courses/PSY.html>

Oklahoma State University

Liz Conduct at 405-744-6040

School of Applied Health and Educational Psychology

Steve Harrist, Ph.D. at 405-744-4837 or steve.harrist@okstate.edu

Has extended an invitation to faculty from institutions affected, to relocate to the OSU-Stillwater campus on a temporary basis, to utilize available research and educational facilities. In addition, a number of web-based courses in education psychology are still available to students from Katrina affected campuses this semester. These are 3-credit courses: many of the undergraduate courses are required for OSU education majors.

St. Christopher's Inn

Nancy O'Donnell, Psy.D. at (845) 424-3616, ext. 244.

Offers a training position for either a Master's or doctoral intern who has been displaced by Hurricane Katrina. St. Christopher's is a shelter for homeless men and offers a 90-day treatment program for men with addictions. It is located in Putnam County, about one hour north of New York City. No stipend is available, however will provide room and board at the facility at no cost. Please see the website <http://www.stchristophersinn-graymoor.org> for more information.

Texas Tech University, Department of Psychology

Ruth Maki, Ph.D. at ruth.maki@ttu.edu

Texas Tech is able to provide temporary academic housing to visiting faculty members. This would include office space, research space and access to the subject pool, Internet and library access.

Texas Women's University

<http://www.twu.edu/admissions/katrina.htm>

TWU will accept undergraduate and graduate students. Is accepting psychology counseling students. Will waive out-of-state tuition for displaced Katrina enrollees. For more information see the website.

University of Akron

<http://www.uakron.edu>

330-972-7077

UA will waive late admission and registration fees, locate housing options and provide assistance for a variety of concerns. The Psychology Department Clinic is also providing assistance (free of charge) for those who want some help dealing with the disaster.

University of Central Florida

<http://www.cas.ucf.edu/CAS2/2004-departments-psych.php>

Robert Dipboye, Ph.D. or rdipboye@mail.ucf.edu

Department of Psychology, is admitting students to classes. Information can be found at the departmental website.

University of Hawaii, Department of Psychology

<http://www.hawaii.edu/>

Stephen Haynes, Ph.D. at sneil@hawaii.edu

The University of Hawaii has offered tuition-free admission for any Hawaii resident from schools affected by the Hurricane. Also, arrangements are possible for visiting faculty status for any psychology faculty members from affected areas--office space, internet, library., etc.

University of Houston

Stewart Pisecco, Ph.D. at spisecco@uh.edu

Has an APA accredited doctoral program in Counseling Psychology and a masters program in Counseling. We are accepting students into courses at both the doctoral and masters level.

University of Houston, Department of Psychology

David Francis, Ph.D. at dfrancis@uh.edu

Displaced faculty members and students in need of assistance in Houston, or plan to come to Houston, please contact Dr. Francis directly.

University of Iowa

William Ming Liu, Ph.D. at william-liu@uiowa.edu

Will make counseling psychology program open and available to any students or faculty in need.

University of Kansas

Tom Krieshok, Ph.D. at tkrieshok@ku.edu

We have a doctoral program in counseling psychology as well as a master's program and will offer whatever support we can.

University of Memphis, Department of Psychology

<http://www.psyc.memphis.edu/>

James P. Whelan, Ph.D. at jwhelan@memphis.edu

Will admit undergraduate and graduate students in a manner designed to best meet their needs. We will also provide support and space to displaced graduate students and faculty.

University of Miami

Brian L. Lewis, Ph.D. at blewis@miami.edu

Is an APA approved counseling psychology program at the University of Miami, and will provide assistance to graduate students or faculty in counseling psychology who might be affected by the hurricane.

University of Missouri, Department of Psychological Sciences

Beverly Skyles at Skylesb@missouri.edu or 573-882-8065

Welcomes graduate students and researchers displaced by Katrina.

University of North Texas

Linda L. Marshall, Ph.D. at psychair@unt.edu

Offers office space and office support for 4-5 (more if necessary) displaced faculty members. Will consider graduate students. We have APA accredited programs in Counseling Psych, Clinical Psych, and Clinical-Health/Behavioral Medicine. We also have doctoral programs in Applied Experimental and I/O.

University of South Florida

<http://www.cas.usf.edu/psychology/index.htm>

Emanuel Donchin, Ph.D. at donchin@shell.cas.usf.edu

Will admit undergraduate and graduate students in a manner designed to best meet their needs. We will also provide displaced faculty with office space (possibly shared), and visiting faculty privileges in access to library, computers and other resources.

University of Tennessee, Knoxville

James Lawler, Ph.D. at jlawler@utk.edu

Contact the psychology department. If budget and space permit, will make arrangements with displaced faculty.

University of Texas

<http://www.utexas.edu/student/cmhc/hurricaneresponse.html>

Jane Bost, Ph.D. at jbost@mail.utexas.edu

The Counseling and Mental Health Center has a special section outlining resources.

University of Wisconsin, Madison

<http://www.news.wisc.edu/hurricane/>

Accepting displaced students.

University of Wisconsin, Milwaukee

Nadya Fouad, Ph.D. at nadya@uwm.edu

Will assist master's and doctoral students in counseling.

Virginia Commonwealth University

Marilyn Stern, Ph.D. at mstern@vcu.edu

The University can assist displaced graduate students. The Psychology Department has an APA accredited clinical psychology program, an APA accredited counseling psychology program (of which I am the director), and an experimental program (social psychology, developmental psychology and biopsychology).

Virginia Tech

<http://www.vtnews.vt.edu/story.php?relyear=2005&itemno=933>

Jack Finney, Ph.D. at finney@vt.edu or 540-231-6670

The Department of Psychology at Virginia Tech can provide assistance to psychology faculty and graduate students. Virginia Tech assistance to displaced undergraduate and graduate students and faculty.

West Virginia University Department of Psychology

Katherine Karraker at kkarrake@mail.wvu.edu

Can provide office space, a computer, and internet access to displaced faculty members or graduate students. Students may be able to take courses and research collaborations may be possible. Graduate programs are available in Behavior Analysis, Clinical Psychology, Clinical Child Psychology, and Life-Span Developmental Psychology. No funding is available at this time.

Western Michigan University

John Beacon, Ph.D. at john.beacon@wmich.edu

Willing to enroll displaced students from Universities in the New Orleans area. APA accredited doctoral program in counseling psychology and an MA program in counseling psychology.

Western Youth Services

Katie Devlin, Ph.D. at kdevlin@westernyouthservices.org

Accepting psychology interns interested in working with children and families. CAPIC member.

Widener University

Elisabeth Gibbings, Ph.D. at elisabeth.n.gibbings@widener.edu

We will accept students in the doctoral psychology program and provide free tuition. Students must currently be matriculating in a Doctor of Psychology (Psy.D.) program.