

PT@CC Electronic Project Competition

The APA Committee of Psychology Teachers at Community Colleges (PT@CC) is pleased to offer an exciting new opportunity for community college students!

The Electronic Project Contest aims to promote active learning by means of electronic presentations developed by psychology students in either of the following categories:

- Presentations designed as demonstrations or teaching modules that illustrate and explain a psychological concept, theory, or research discovery.
- Presentations that illustrate and explain a service-learning experience or other application of psychology in the community.

Entries should be developed primarily by students and designed to explain the concept, research, or application to a 2-year college student audience. It may be helpful to think of these presentations as computerized teaching/learning modules or electronic "poster" presentations. Nearly any class project that can be put into a PowerPoint or similar electronic format will be acceptable. See the Contest Guidelines for more details.

The competition is open to students currently enrolled at a community college or other two-year school. Faculty sponsors must be members of the Psychology Teachers at Community Colleges (PT@CC). For more information about this competition or PT@CC, please contact Martha Boenau (mboenau@apa.org). Submissions must be postmarked by May 1, 2004.

To submit your electronic presentation, please send your project along with the information requested to:
