MISSION

The International Network for Lesbian, Gay, and Bisexual Concerns and Transgender Issues in Psychology is composed of national, multinational, and international psychological associations that are cooperating to achieve the following aims:

“To increase cross-cultural collaboration among psychological researchers and practitioners who are concerned about the mental health and well-being of lesbian, gay, bisexual, and transgender populations;

“To increase knowledge among psychologists and other mental health practitioners about lesbian, gay, bisexual, and transgender populations;

“To apply psychological research and mental health practice guidelines that address the needs and concerns of lesbian, gay, bisexual, and transgender populations to international health policy;

“To increase the number of national, multinational, and international psychological associations that formally reject the mental disorder conception of homosexuality and that promote mental health practice that is affirmative of gay, lesbian, bisexual, and transgender people.”

The International Network is a result of the 2001 International Meeting, Sexual Orientation and Mental Health: Toward Global Perspectives on Practice and Policy. Final report:
