The PsycINFO Journal Coverage List, 2011

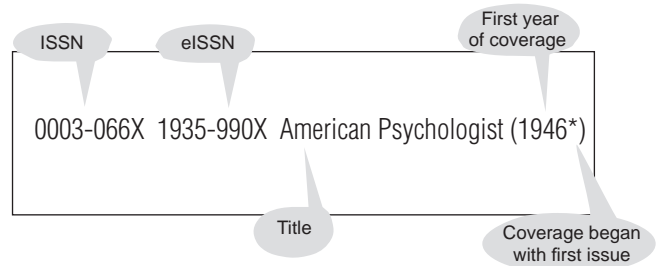

This document lists more than 2,460 scholarly, peer-reviewed journals that the American Psychological Association (APA) indexes in the APA research databases. APA regularly reviews journals to identify psychologically relevant articles for coverage in the PsycINFO core collection of databases. For the articles selected from these interdisciplinary journals, PsycINFO creates bibliographic records, all of which include abstracts. A subset of these records appears in PsycARTICLES®, PsycBOOKS®, and PsycCRITIQUES, APA's full-text databases, as well as in the PsycSCANS. The presence of a journal title on this list does not imply that all of its articles will be cited, because PsycINFO assesses the psychological relevance of each article independently, and selects only relevant articles.

Regular Updates to this List

PsycINFO's list of covered journals changes continuously as journals are added and discontinued throughout the year. Regular updates to the list are generally posted monthly. APA will provide monthly alerts of journals added to the coverage list. To receive notification, subscribe to the APA Listserv.

KEY TO THE LIST OF TITLES

- For further information about a journal's coverage history, contact PsycINFO at psycinfo@apa.org
- For publisher addresses, see the publisher and journal websites linked to the online PsycINFO coverage list, or contact PsycINFO.

Coverage Policy

PsycINFO covers a wide range of journals relevant to behavioral and social sciences. Among the related fields covered are neurology, industrial & organizational psychology, business management, healthcare, alternative medicine, and sports psychology.

The geographical scope continues to expand; currently, there are representative journals from 53 countries. Although all abstracts are translated into English, PsycINFO takes a global view of journal literature and seeks to cover as many journals as possible with an international appeal.

If you would like to suggest a journal for coverage or suggest a content area that you feel is underrepresented or not represented at all, please send the title and publisher information to:

or email psycinfocov@apa.org.

We welcome all feedback.

Requirements

Also available at <http://www.apa.org/pubs/databases/psycinfo/publishers/journals.aspx>

To be accepted for coverage, a journal must:

- Be relevant to psychology.
- Be of a quality and scope of interest to an international audience.
- Be peer reviewed.
 - Peers who are knowledgeable in the subject area and who come from an array of perspectives and settings review submitted manuscripts and advise the editor on their originality, significance, and scientific rigor.
- Have an ISSN.

- Follow standard conventions for scholarly journals:
 - Have an informative title and descriptive article titles.
 - Include full addresses for authors.
 - Include abstracts and keywords.
 - Include references that are current, from quality journals, and of an appropriate number for the articles in a standard format.
- Contain usable abstracts, titles, and keywords in English.
- Demonstrate diversity of reviewers and authors—no internal publications.
- Include all or mostly all original articles.
- Contain articles that are substantiated with empirical data or other means.
- Be published on a regular schedule appropriate for the established frequency of the journal.

In addition, electronic journals must:

- Provide evidence of archiving arrangements, online or otherwise.
- Include a posting date for articles and revisions.

Features That Support Acceptance

For all journals:

- Sponsorship by a psychological association or other society
- Psychologists among editorial board members and authors
- Indexed in other databases
- Online access
- English table of contents
- Transliterated references
- Frequency of publication clearly advertised on masthead or webpage

For electronic journals:

- Email listserv
- Presence of version number
- Indication of where previous versions can be obtained
- Links
