Note. This summary is compiled from the 2016 annual reports of the Council of Editors and from Central Office records. Corresponding figures for 2015 can be found in the July–August 2016 issue of American Psychologist. Numbers are rounded off to the nearest whole number.

<sup>a</sup> Includes manuscripts for which final editorial decisions had not been made as of December 31, 2016. By the date of this report, decisions will have been reached on most of these manuscripts. <sup>b</sup> The rejection rate indicates the percentage of submitted manuscripts not accepted for publication in a journal. For example, a rejection rate of 76% means that manuscripts submitted to a journal have a 24% chance of acceptance. <sup>c</sup> Includes articles, brief reports, case reports, discussions, monographs, and brief substantive items. <sup>d</sup> “Average lag in months” is calculated using the acceptance and publication dates for all manuscripts published in 2016. As available, this lag is reported for manuscripts published first online then in print. <sup>e</sup> Excludes award addresses, award biographies, comments, editorials, obituaries, and correction notices. <sup>f</sup> Data for the editors and incoming editors were combined in order to reflect activity for the journal as a whole.
