

APA Resources for Undergraduates

APA regularly develops resources to support undergraduate students in their psychology education and career development. APA's undergraduate psychology resources can help you:

- Identify the employer-valued skills that psychology majors develop through their program of study
- Explore job options available to bachelor level graduates
- Learn about the different subfields in psychology
- Find research opportunities and internships
- Get tips and support using APA style in your academic writing
- Select programs and apply to graduate school

To explore APA's resources for undergraduates, visit apa.org/education-career/undergrad or scan this QR code.

OTHER WAYS TO CONNECT WITH APA

- Subscribe to the Psychology Student Network (PSN) newsletter: apa.org/ed/precollege/psn
- Listen to the Speaking of Psychology podcast: apa.org/news/podcasts/speaking-of-psychology
- Check out APA's YouTube Channel: youtube.com/theapavideo
- Follow APA on Twitter and Facebook: twitter.com/apa and facebook.com/AmericanPsychologicalAssociation

BECOME AN APA STUDENT AFFILIATE MEMBER!

Did you know that students interested in psychology, or pursuing a major or career in psychology, can become APA student affiliate members at a discounted rate? APA student affiliate members get access to benefits like:

- Free subscriptions to APA's The Monitor on Psychology magazine and the American Psychologist journal
- Discounted registration rates for APA's annual convention
- And more!

TO LEARN MORE AND BECOME A MEMBER,
VISIT HTTPS://WWW.APA.ORG/MEMBERS/YOUR-MEMBERSHIP/UNDERGRADUATE

AMERICAN PSYCHOLOGICAL ASSOCIATION