Community Expectations Ethical Obligations

- ▣ Public Perception of Psychology
 - Limited understanding of the breadth of the discipline
 - Unrealistic expectations for scope of undergraduate expertise
- ▣ Examples of Community Engagement Activities
 - Working with individuals
 - Engaging in research

Mentoring Students Toward Their Professional Goals

- ▣ Advising students
 - Guidance toward timely graduation
 - Informed guidance toward future graduate school aspirations
 - Realistic guidance toward likelihood for acceptance into graduate study
 - Accurate information about the employment outlook

Maintaining Boundaries Influencing Factors

- ▣ APA Code of Ethical Practice
 - Principles
- ▣ Campus Policies
- ▣ State Licensure Laws
- ▣ Title XI Changes

Related Teaching Activities

- ▣ Writing letters of recommendation
 - How should faculty provide students with criteria for writing letters?
 - Should faculty decline to write letters?
- ▣ Faculty advisor for clubs and honor societies
 - How involved should faculty be with social events?

National Trends in Undergraduate Research

- ▣ Increased emphasis on undergraduate research across disciplines
 - Council on Undergraduate Research
- ▣ Increase in the number of courses offered for students to conduct undergraduate research
 - Faculty supervision of independent study
 - Community engagement projects
- ▣ Increased emphasis on liberal arts to demonstrate that students are learning marketable skills for the workplace

A Continuum of Undergraduate Research

- ▣ Class projects
 - Issues related to collecting data to complete assignments
- ▣ Assisting with professor-led research
 - Ensuring that students are informed about their role in research
- ▣ Student initiated research
 - Establishing equitable authorship agreements
