

*Memorandum of Understanding between
The American Psychological Association
and
The Lebanese Psychological Association*

The American Psychological Association (APA) and the Lebanese Psychological Association (LPA) agree as follows:

Whereas, the Bylaws of APA and the Articles of Association of LPA share mutual objectives calling for the advancement of the discipline in the public interest; and

Whereas, it is desirable to have integration and exchange between the psychological organizations in the United States and Lebanon; and

Whereas, mutual concerns make it likely that occasions for joint consultation and cooperation will present themselves in the years to come; and

Whereas, both organizations wish to anticipate such occasions by establishing a framework, when possible, for their timely discussion;

Now therefore, APA and LPA affirm and reaffirm their working relations in this Memorandum of Understanding.

Furthermore, pursuant to this Memorandum of Understanding, the leaders of APA and LPA shall maintain regular communication to discuss matters of common concern.

Finally, APA and LPA will seek to identify projects and activities in which they may work together, assist or support one another, or otherwise cooperate for the betterment of psychology and the public interest.
