Membership Dues

Basic dues provide the Monitor on Psychology and American Psychologist via U.S. domestic delivery. Destinations outside the U.S. and Canada are via surface methods. First class and airmail options are available; please contact Membership for more information.

*Members outside the U.S. should enclose an additional $75 to have the Monitor on Psychology or American Psychologist shipped via airmail ($75 per publication).

The amount preprinted on the form represents your dues according to APA records of your membership status.

Life Status Fee

Dues for Members and Associate members who have reached both 65 years of age and 25 years of membership, and have advised Membership of their choice to begin the dues-reduction process, shall be based on the following schedule. At any step in the process where dues are less than the subscription price/service fee, the latter shall prevail. Practitioner members please note: The Step-Down reduction in payment applies to membership dues.

LIFE STATUS — Any member who has reached the age of 65 and has been a member of the Association for at least 29 years may choose to enter the full Life Status category.

Such members are asked to pay a $79 APA publication fee. Members who waive payment of the APA publication fee will not receive the American Psychologist and the Monitor on Psychology.

Note that while division membership for Life Status continues, there are no division dues or assessments. Some divisions do require payment of a publication fee for those wishing to receive the division publication(s). Please contact Membership to see if a publication fee is applicable for your division(s). If so, please include this amount with your Life Status publication fee, or you will be billed this amount at a later date.

APA Division Dues

DIVISION DUES AND ASSESSMENTS — You may not join a Division by altering the dues statement.

According to APA records, you belong to the APA Divisions indicated in the shaded box labeled “Division Affiliations & Publication Fees.” Division assessment amounts are shown beside each of your division memberships.

This includes all division dues and assessments owed.

Resignation from a Division

In the box labeled “Division Affiliations and Assessments,” the divisions to which you belong are printed. If you wish to resign from a division, cross out the division number for each division from which you are resigning, cross out the preprinted amount owed and write in the new amount owed for remaining divisions.

Donations

You may wish to make donations to any of the listed programs.

Subtotal

If you have made no changes, remit this amount for dues.
In submitting my dues payment, I affirm that I understand and agree to the following:

• APA is a nonprofit membership organization that advances psychology as a science, as a means of promoting health, education, and human welfare and is devoted to disseminating and applying psychological knowledge, promoting research in psychology, and setting high standards of ethics, practice, conduct, education and achievement to improve the qualifications and skills of psychologists.

• From 2001 to September 2018, APA housed a separate, nonprofit professional association affiliate called the APA Practice Organization (APAPO). The APAPO focused primarily on the professional interests of psychologists in clinical settings.

• As of September of 2018, the APAPO has become APA SERVICES, INC. (APASI). APA SERVICES, INC. engages in advocacy and government relations activities in support of the organizational purposes and objectives of both APA and APA SERVICES, INC. APA SERVICES, INC. continues to promote the professional interests of practicing psychologists, but also engages in broad advocacy and career advancement activities that promote the interests of psychologists in science, applied psychology, education and the public interest.

• The APA Board of Directors and Council of Representatives have determined that it is in the best interests of APA for all members to be dual members of both APA and APA SERVICES, INC., and have approved the policy that there will be one mandatory, combined dues fee for both APA and APA SERVICES, INC. It is no longer an option to join and pay dues to APA only.

• Member dues payments will be allocated on an annual basis between APA and APA SERVICES, INC. based on a determination of the relative needs and priorities of the two organizations and in a manner consistent with the Internal Revenue Code.

• I also affirm that I subscribe to and will support the objectives of the American Psychological Association as set forth in Article I of the Bylaws, and the Ethical Principles of Psychologists and Code of Conduct, as adopted by the Association. I further agree that my conduct will be governed by APA's Ethical Principles of Psychologists and Code of Conduct and consent to review any notifications of ethics matters by APA in accordance with the Ethics Committee's Rules and Procedures.

• By providing my email address, I understand I will receive emails from APA regarding my membership and the association's activities.

If you do not understand or if you have any questions about this policy, please contact Member Services at (800) 374-2721 for assistance.

You may pay by check, drawn on a U.S. bank in U.S. dollars, made payable to the APA Services, INC. Please write your member number on your check or money order. Checks not honored by your financial institution are subject to a $25.00 fee. DO NOT SEND CASH.

You may charge the amount due to your VISA, MasterCard or American Express. To do so, call 1-800-374-2721 or pay online at www.apa.org/renew.

ALL members must sign the Membership Agreement in order to renew their membership.
APA members who reside in Canada and also belong to the Canadian Psychological Association (CPA) are eligible for a 50% reduction, rounded up to the nearest dollar, of APA member dues. The amounts printed on the dues statement were determined by records of your membership status and residence. If APA records indicate that you are a CPA member, your dues amount has already been adjusted to reflect the 50% reduction. If you are still a CPA member, you need only pay what is printed on your statement. If you are no longer a CPA member, you are not eligible for this reduction and must double the amounts; simply cross out the preprinted amount and write in the correct amounts. We will alter our membership records so that you will be billed correctly in the future.

Members who cannot pay the regular membership dues because of financial hardship may pay $79, to continue to receive the American Psychologist and the Monitor on Psychology. Hardship is defined as having an available income of less than $18,000 in the previous year and an expected income of less than $18,000 in the year for which dues are being billed. The APA Membership Department may authorize reduced dues for persons who experience financial hardship due to unemployment, family leave and disability, among other reasons. This option is not available for more than five years, for members who are reinstating (i.e., for dues owed for prior years), for new members paying their initial dues or for Life Status members. Reduced dues applies only to membership dues and not to division dues, Division Assessments or journal subscriptions. Permanently and totally disabled members may utilize reduced dues each year; please notify Membership of disability status.

APA and APF are 501(c)(3) organizations, APASI is a 501(c)(6) organization. APA’s Federal ID# is 53-0205890; APF’s Federal ID# is 52-6051733; APASI Federal ID# is 52-2262136. Payments to APA and APF may be deductible as charitable contributions (less the value of any goods or services received). The portion of dues payable to APASI and contributions to the Psychology Advocacy Fund are dues payments or contributions to a 501(c)(6) entity and are not deductible as a charitable contribution; however such dues payments may be otherwise deductible.

You are receiving goods in return for your payment consisting of APA publications which are valued at $18 plus the value of your division journals listed in the right-hand column. APA publication costs and other costs for APA journal subscriptions are not tax deductible. 13% of your total dues are estimated to be allocable to lobbying activities and therefore not deductible for income tax purposes. Please consult your tax advisor regarding tax deductibility of dues payments and contributions.
