

COMMITTEE ON CHILDREN, YOUTH, AND FAMILIES

The Committee on Children, Youth, and Families (CYF) was established by a vote of Council in August 1985 to ensure "...that children, youth, and families receive the full attention of the Association...in order that all human resources are actualized." The Committee consists of six members and reports to the Council of Representatives through the Board for the Advancement of Psychology in the Public Interest (BAPPI). The 2017 CYF Annual Report provides information on CYF's goals and a summary of activities as they relate to the Committee's goals.

COMMITTEE ON CHILDREN, YOUTH, AND FAMILIES

2017 ANNUAL REPORT

COMPOSITION:

Ashley Butler, Ph.D. (Chair); Arthur Horne, Ph.D.; Kalina Brabeck, Ph.D., Christina Rodriguez, Ph.D., Michael Lawler, Ph.D., and Dionne Coker-Appiah, Ph.D.

MEETINGS:

The Committee held an in-person formal meeting in Washington, DC; March 24-26, 2017 and held virtual meetings in June, July, September, October, and November of 2017. Other business was conducted via additional conference calls, email, and the APA Communities web platform.

LIAISON FUNCTIONS

CYF maintains active monitor and liaison relationships with APA boards, committees, task forces, and divisions. Division liaisons to CYF participate actively in Committee discussions. They provide invaluable consultation and they keep the committee abreast of important work underway throughout APA.

Liaisons who participated in one or more meetings include: Dara Blachman-Demner, PhD, Division 37; Margaret Feerick, Ph.D. Section 1 of Division 37; Susan Bowen, PhD, Division 40; Mia Smith-Bynum, Ph.D., Division 43; Rachel Tunick, PhD, Division 54; Adam Lewin, Ph.D., Division 53; Evangelina Alonso, PhD, Board for the Advancement of Psychology in the Public Interest (BAPPI); Jennifer Kelly, Ph.D., Board of Directors; Geraldine Downey, Ph.D., Board of Scientific Affairs

OTHER GOVERNANCE GROUPS

CYF strives to learn more about the activities of other APA committees so that its work may be more collaborative and synergistic. This year, CYF collaborated with a number of Boards and Committees, including BAPPI, the Members of Color meetings, The Committee on Ethnic Minority Affairs (CEMA); the Committee on Sexual Orientation and Gender Diversity (CSOGD), the Committee on Disability Issues in Psychology (CDIP), the Committee on Women in Psychology (CWP), the Committee on Socioeconomic Status (CSES), the Committee on Aging (CONA), the Committee on Legal Issues (COLI), and Committee on Psychology and AIDS (COPA).

COMMITTEE MISSION AND GOALS

CYF's mission and goal is to further the central purpose of APA - to advance psychology as a science and a profession and as a means of promoting health, education, and human welfare - by specifically ensuring that children, youth, and families receive the full attention of the Association in order that all human resources are fully actualized. CYF's goals are to:

- identify and disseminate information concerning the psychological status of children, youth, and families for psychologists, other professionals, policy makers, and the public;
- offer consultation to relevant APA boards and committees that are responsible for the educational standards for psychologists who conduct research and provide services for children, youth, and families;
- encourage psychological research on the factors that promote or inhibit the development of individual and family competence;
- contribute to the formulation and support of policies that facilitate the optimal development of children and youth within families;
- designate priorities for APA involvement in the issues affecting children, youth, and families, including issues related to gender, ethnicity, sexual orientation, and disability.
- recruit members with diverse expertise who will advance the CYF strategic plan

DIVERSITY

CYF continues to address diversity in the appointment of members to its committee and keeping the needs of diverse children, youth and families at the forefront. The composition of the committee during the spring and fall meetings included 50 % under-represented racial/ethnic minority members (Coker-Appiah, Rodriguez, and Butler). The Committee has two males, and discussed the need to continue to attract a diverse pool of male and female applicants so that gender, race, ethnicity, and LGBTQ populations and individuals with disabilities can be represented. In addition, the committee sought to attract and recruit members who are early career in concert with APA's membership initiatives. At the time of each member's appointment, 33% of the committee would be classified as ECP (under the guidelines of 10 years post-graduation). The desired end result is representation of a broad range of perspectives and expertise as well as diversity characteristics. The dissemination of the call for nominations was broad, with particular outreach to Divisions 17, 44, and 45, as well as traditional outlets (e.g., Division 7, 37, 53).

In addition, the needs of diverse youth are inherently addressed by the Committee's topical focus on the needs of diverse youth and families, including Committee members' focal areas of families' immigration experiences (Brabeck); maltreatment and culture (Rodriguez);, healthy school and community climate (Horne); dating violence among rural African American youth (Coker-Appiah);and mental health disparities in youth (Butler).

I. IDENTIFY AND DISSEMINATE INFORMATION

CYF New Business and Priorities

In 2017, the CYF continued with several ongoing high-priority projects and laid the foundation for new initiatives. Following a model designed by Lauren Caldwell in the prior year, we disseminated a one page new business form for new items that could be completed by committee members, liaisons, or other interested division members. Through this, the committee elected to pursue one new project: (1) A project to update a 2008 report by Birman and Chan on psychosocial screening and assessment of immigrant and refugee youth within school-based settings. In addition, the Committee is continuing to make progress on several other large initiatives, including: (a) Creating and disseminating a Practitioner Guide to address Child Mental Health Disparities based on the report published by the William T. Grant Foundation; (b) Creating and disseminating a parallel Functional Guide for Policy Makers based on the same William T. Grant Foundation report; (c) complete the Developing Adolescents Handbook revisions; (d) Proposing a resolution addressing solitary confinement of juvenile offenders (The CYF was charged with this initiative by BAPPI); and (e) Proposing a resolution on parent's use of physical discipline with children (this initiative was brought to the CYF by a joint Division 7-37 task force). Finally, in collaboration with other committees, several smaller activities are being pursued, including a revision of the LGBT Parenting Reference Guide (lead is CSOGD) and a revision to existing material on Intersex Conditions (lead is CSOGD).

New Initiatives

(1) Psychosocial Screening and Assessment of Immigrant and Refugee Youth in School-Based Settings

CYF member Brabeck submitted a proposal for funding to the William T. Grant Foundation to update a 2008 report on screening and assessment of immigrant and refugee youth. However, the proposal was not funded. Despite this, the CYF committee decided to proceed with project in collaboration with the authors of the original report. A call to solicit participation on the workgroup to update the report was sent to CPTA and the Division of School Psychology. Goals of the project include scientific publication and a report for practitioners and researchers.

Ongoing Initiatives

a. Mental Health Disparities Report for and Dissemination to Practitioners

Former CYF member Carmen Valdez continued to work with current CYF member (Butler) and former CYF member (Rodgers) to create a complimentary practitioner friendly guide from a research report put out by the William T. Grant Foundation on mental health disparities in children and adolescents. The project was created and disseminated, and accompanying webinars for dissemination were being finalized in 2017 for distribution. An abstract of the process of creating and disseminating the practitioner guide was submitted for a special issue of Cultural Diversity and Ethnic Minority Psychology.

b. Mental Health Disparities Report for and Dissemination to Policy Makers

CYF member Butler took the lead in moving to create a second product and accompanying dissemination plan on mental health disparities for policy makers. A workgroup was created to develop the policy guide, and the guide was developed and completed with assistance from design services of the APA. Copies of the policy guide were created for dissemination. Plans for disseminating the policy guide were being finalized in 2017. The dissemination will be completed in 2018.

c. Update Developing Adolescents

The committee completed their update of the publication Developing Adolescents: A reference for Professionals. The 2002 version was in need of updating to include new science and practice and policy recommendations on a range of topics, including technology, cyberbullying, adolescent neuroscience, and identity development. CYF member Quas worked with the CYF intern and Lauren Caldwell throughout the endeavor. All of the revisions to the reference guide were submitted by fall of 2016, and editing began to put the sections into a single voice that was appropriate for the diverse set of professionals being targeted by the publication.

d. Resolution on Parents' use of Physical Discipline with Children

A Task Force comprised of members from Division 7 and 37 prepared a comprehensive report regarding the adverse effects of physical discipline on children's (and family's) development and functioning. They requested that the CYF be involved in a resolution that would represent a formal statement as to APA's position on the use of such discipline. In fall of 2016, the CYF met to discuss the potential for a resolution. The committee reviewed the task force report and voted, based on the strength of the science, to go forward with the resolution. The Committee met with the BAPPI liaison to discuss the process and receptivity to the proposed resolution, and drafted resolution language. In 2017, the CYF revised the report and submitted the draft for review and comment by other APA committees and boards via the cross-cutting agenda. The comments from other committees and boards were received and the CYF held several meetings to review and address each comment. The CYF also held additional meetings with BAPPI to clarify some of the comments. A modified draft of the resolution will be created and submitted for review and comment by APA committees and boards in 2018.

e. Revising Lesbian & Gay Parenting Reference Guide

CYF member Rodriguez served on a working group that is updating the Lesbian and Gary Parenting Reference Guide, a research-based review of abstracts on available scientific evidence regarding parenting when issues regarding LGBT are relevant (e.g., in parents or in youth). A working group was formed in July of 2016 to begin the process, and two graduate students, working with CSOGD, conducted a literature review to identify new, relevant research. They completed the literature review in December and distributed it to the working group and CSOGD, the latter of whom is now evaluating how to proceed.

f. Revising Answers to Your Questions About Individuals with Intersex Conditions

A dialogue has continued between CSOGD and the CYF about the need to update existing materials. Brabeck now serves on the working group charged with this task. They have formulated notes, and Brabeck reviewed several suggested changes.

CYF Awards

The committee reviewed nominations for two awards: (a) early career award and (b) mid-career award. The awards to Drs. Theodore Beauchaine (mid) and Betty Li (early) were presented at the CYF Social Hour in Washington DC in August 2017.

CYF news

Dr. Rodriguez was the guest editor for the Spring 2017 newsletter. Her issue focused on cultural issues in corporal punishment use. The articles addressed corporal punishment use among African American families, among different faith/religious groups, and among immigrant families.

Dr. Lawler was a guest editor for the Fall 2017 newsletter that brought attention to the well-being of American Indian youth, families, and communities. The articles focused on school and community strategies to reduce the negative effects of generational trauma, the role of The Indian Child Welfare Act in youth cultural identity, mentoring to promote positive well-being, and factors that impact sleep concerns in Native Hawaiian children and families.

APA Public Interest Blog "Psychology Benefits Society"

CYF supported the development of blog posts addressing children, youth and family issues:

"No Duty More Important": Why We Must Treat Children's Rights as Fundamental Human Rights
What is One Simple Thing You Can Do to Prevent Gun Violence at School? Say Something

2017 Convention Report

CYF sponsored its annual social hour, in conjunction with Divisions 7, 16, 37, and 53. It was well-attended. Awards were distributed, and memorial tributes were paid to leaders in the field who have passed away.

II. ENCOURAGE PSYCHOLOGICAL RESEARCH AND III. FORMULATE POLICY

GOALS

The Committee again took an active role in commenting on PI-GRO federal policy issues throughout the year, with members frequently offering expert comments on timely matters (e.g. policy focused activities, including those related to solitary confinement, child welfare, juvenile justice and mental health). Furthermore, the Committee collaborated with other entities such as an Institute of Medicine and National Research Council meeting and U.S. Preventive Services Task Force to assist with the translation of research into policy and practice.

IV. DESIGNATE APA PRIORITIES FOR CHILDREN, YOUTH, AND FAMILIES

This goal permeates every aspect of CYF's work and is evident in its consultation efforts with various groups. CYF is particularly effective in ensuring that its members have expertise to respond to present-day events affecting children, youth, and families, including such timely topics as physical discipline and immigration challenges for children and families. The resolutions being considered and drafted by our committee reflect our attention to these challenges, and our constant efforts to address the needs of children, youth, families in as broad of a way as possible.

CONCLUSION

CYF focuses APA's organizational efforts and capabilities on issues of critical social importance. During times of economic stress and community violence, children, youth and families are often vulnerable to household and societal disruptions that lead to poor outcomes. Over the years the CYF Committee has developed a strong core of expertise making it well positioned to address these issues for the Association, the scientific community, and to advocate on behalf of children, youth, and families given their ever changing needs and circumstances. Over the past year, CYF efforts have shown how the use of strong science and strategic policy efforts can enhance the wellbeing of children, youth and their families in the domains of health, social justice, education, and child welfare. The continued work of the committee on culture, health disparities, juvenile justice, parenting practices, and immigration will continue to advance this important work. These contributions clearly enhance the reputation of the Association while at the same time delivering important public service. CYF members are proud of this service and confident that it has had a meaningful positive impact on the lives of many young people and families.

Respectfully submitted,

Ashley Butler, Ph.D.
