

American Psychological Association
Chapter 18_nonfluent_aphasia

Interviewer: I want you to tell me everything that you see happening in this picture.

Interviewee: Thy king, no... thy nnn-no way, noway, this--

Interviewer: Can you see the [cross-talking] -- can you see the woman?

Interviewee: They wouldn't -- uz -- no, no, I din't.

Interviewer: All right. Wait. Here's the woman.

Interviewee: Right, woman in.

Interviewer: The woman is waa--

Interviewee: Washing and ff, no, this za -- and --

Interviewer: All right, let's look over here. How about the water?

Interviewee: Water, vlater, the dark water and food is divrin.

Interviewer: How about the little boy over here?

Interviewee: B-bile [phonetic], l-l-lake and ch'has firth cheh--

Interviewer: Men?

Interviewee: Chanim, man.

Interviewer: The boy is reaching for something.

Interviewee: Someting.

Interviewer: What is he reaching for?

Interviewee: Knife, knife.

Interviewer: He's reaching for a cook --

Interviewee: -- kies.

Interviewer: For cookies.

Interviewee: -- kies.

Interviewer: That's good.

Interviewee: Knife is no way.

Interviewer: Alright, you're pointing to the stool.

Interviewee: Ift, Stool.

Interviewer: All right, now, listen. Is the stool standing up, or, is it falling over?

Interviewee: Falling over.

Interviewer: Yeah, the stool is falling over.

Interviewee: Falling over.

Interviewer: Okay. How about the woman here? Is she eating or is she washing dishes?

Interviewee: Washing dishes.

Interviewer: Okay, all right. What do you see over here?

Interviewee: Washzing with dishes, nnn.

Interviewer: All right. Here, over here, do you see -- wait a minute. Do you see a pet dog or do you see a little girl?

Interviewee: Bag dog. B-bag --

Interviewer: No, that time there's a little...girl.

Interviewee: Girl.

Interviewer: A little girl is standing there.

Interviewee: Standing up!

Interviewer: Yeah!

Interviewee: Yes.

Interviewer: The little girl is standing up.

Interviewee: Girl is standing up. No way.

[End of file]

[End of transcript]