

All kids need room to choose!

Jacob has got to go! And so does Sophie. But the other kids chased them out of the bathrooms because of the way they look.

Why can't they just pee in peace?

Jacob's Room to Choose is an empowering book about understanding gender expression and stereotypes — creating a safe space that will open (bathroom) doors for kids everywhere.

The carpet was warm. The bunnies were funny.
Jacob and Sophie loved library time.

“Okay, kids,” said Ms. Reeves. “We’ve got 10 minutes left.
Does anyone need to use the bathroom before we head back to class?”

Jacob and Sophie raised their hands.

Sophie walked through one door.
Jacob took a deep breath and walked through the other.

They stopped outside the bathroom doors.
“Do you think it’s OK?” asked Sophie.
“I don’t know,” said Jacob.

Two boys were at the sinks.
They stared at Jacob standing in the doorway.
Jacob knew what that look meant.
He turned and ran out.
