

Children's / Life Skills
Ages 4–8

Marvelous Maravilloso

The world is full of different colors...hundreds of colors, everywhere. People are different colors too. Our colors make us beautiful and unique. Mommy says it is part of our culture and the big word diversity—diversidad.

Marvelous Maravilloso follows a young girl as she finds joy in the colors of the world all around her, including the colors of her own family.

Includes a Note to Parents and Caregivers.

Magination Press

Published by the American Psychological Association
www.apa.org/pubs/magination

SAMPLE PAGES - NOT FOR DISTRIBUTION
© American Psychological Association

Lara

Marvelous Maravilloso

Magination Press

Marvelous Maravilloso

Me and My Beautiful Family

by Carrie Lara
illustrated by Christine Battuz

The world is full of different colors... hundreds of colors, everywhere.

Mommy and Daddy and I go for walks in the garden to see the rainbow of colors in las flores—the flowers.

We go to the beach
to see all the blues and greens of the sea.

My grandma lives in a house surrounded by the deep colors of the forest.

Y mi abuela lives in the fast and bright colors of the city.

Colors make the world pretty,
colors make the world interesting and beautiful.

Without them everything would look the same.

