

Not every Princess

Who do you want to be: a princess?
Pirate? Teacher or scientist?

And where would you like to play: a castle?
Pirate ship? Library or spacelab?

It's your decision to make, so think away. Your imagination and thoughts can create pictures and scenes, the most beautiful, amazing, picturesque dreams!

Also included is a Note to Parents and Caregivers filled with useful advice and strategies to help children imagine, play, and ultimately envision and inspire themselves beyond the limited roles and expectations that gender stereotypes create.

Magination Press

Published by the American Psychological Association
www.apa.org/pubs/magination

Children's Ages 4-8

Bone & Bone

Not every Princess

Magination Press

Not every Princess

by Jeffrey Bone and Lisa Bone illustrated by Valeria Docampo

Not every princess
lives in a castle.

Not every fairy has wings.

Not every pirate sails ships.

And not every bird sings.

